

We strongly encourage you to consider giving Drug Court a try. You will have access to full program resources during the try-out.

You don't have to make a decision right away. During Phase 1, if you decide Drug Court is not a good fit, you can leave and take your case to the mainstream legal system instead.

You should talk with your attorney before making a final decision.

Invitation to Try Drug Court!

King County Drug Diversion Court

We Want You To Know:

- ◆ Drug Court is different from other court experiences.
- ◆ Our goal is to help you.
- ◆ Drug Court will give you the support, accountability, structure and resources you need to complete the program, get your felonies dismissed, and avoid prison time.

Benefits of Drug Court

As explained by current participants

- ◆ Well-rounded support—it's more than just drug and alcohol treatment.
- ◆ Access to lots of different resources – housing, transportation, cell phone, basic needs.
- ◆ Gain self-confidence, self-awareness, and an understanding of recovery.
- ◆ Daily structure that gives you something positive to focus on.
- ◆ Support from case managers.
- ◆ Accountability to keep you motivated and help you succeed.
- ◆ Being around positive people who encourage you.
- ◆ Feeling good about yourself.
- ◆ No longer waking up sick.
- ◆ Incentives / rewards to recognize your accomplishments.
- ◆ Improved relationships with family.
- ◆ Opportunity to build a better life (help with getting your driver's license, GED, college, employment, etc.)
- ◆ Connection to drug court graduates and others who have been through what you've been through.
- ◆ Access to medications (methadone, suboxone, vivitrol).
- ◆ If you successfully complete: avoiding a felony conviction and its consequences for employment, housing, immigration.
- ◆ Ability to care for your family and provide a healthy future for your children.
